

Job Description: Analyst at Brightmore Capital

Full-Time – Dakar, Senegal, West Africa

About Us

Brightmore Capital is an early stage impact investment firm. We invest in exceptional entrepreneurs (most of them second-time or third-time ones) who are building businesses serving base-of-pyramid consumer and the rising middle class. We look for both start-ups differentiated through disruptive technology and SMEs in more traditional industries. We are based in Dakar, Senegal and invest in founders from the countries comprising the West Africa Monetary Union (WAMU) across the following sectors: Food Innovation, Financial Inclusion, Renewables & CleanTech, and Essential Services (e.g. Education, Healthcare, Transport, etc.)

Our team's deep knowledge of the West African market, extensive investment experience, the capability to add value to portfolio company operations, and strong network of reliable and trusted local and industrial financial contacts positions it well to identify and execute on attractive investment opportunities in the region, while, at the same time, contributing to the socio-economic development of Francophone West Africa.

About the Role

You will be working closely with one of the Partners, be exposed to many aspects of a new investment firm, and learn about investing in a fast-paced and challenging environment.

This role requires exceptional organization and time management, being an excellent communicator, a business-savvy personality, and mindset of an individual who can successfully juggle multiple tasks at any given time.

This role is structured as a one-year commitment. We are open to a longer term for the right candidate, but generally plan to support your transition into an impact investing/finance role or graduate school.

Compensation is commensurate with experience.

Primary Responsibilities

- Manage and assist with day-to-day activities for the Partners, including:
 - Stay on top of Partners' needs, timeline and collect all data as needed
 - Track new investment opportunities, including processing inbound deal flow
 - Conduct extensive investment diligence and research
 - Assist with managing the Partners' inboxes and communications- including, both written and verbal interactions
 - Manage the Partners' relationships and connections to ensure we are hyper-responsive and on top of everything
 - Prepare for meetings, trips, and conferences (internal in Dakar and external)
- Fund operations (as needed):
 - Attend industry-related events in Dakar
 - Preliminary due diligence

- Basic office and HR-related activities, including assisting with managing our cohorts of Brightmore Fellows
- Coordination of back office and reporting activities
- Assistance with planning LP (e.g. investor) and Brightmore Capital's general professional network communications
- Managing outward-facing data room and document requests

About You

- Fast-paced and detail-oriented, with strong common sense
- Developed organizational skills with a “self-starter” mentality and a strong attention to detail
- Positivity in all interactions, even under stress
- Embraces constructive feedback
- “Getting things done” mentality with zero ego in terms of what you work on
- Courageous in contributing ideas and willing to ask questions
- Ability to multi-task, quickly establish credibility in new areas of work, and flexibility in taking multiple parts of key projects
- Exceptional organizational skills
- Intellectual curiosity with the ability to independently figure things out
- Proficient in Word, PowerPoint and Excel

Preferred but not required:

- Passion for impact investing and SMEs/start-ups
- 2+ years of work experience, ideally in roles that involve some level of project management
- Background and/or experience of working in francophone West Africa
- Background in consulting, banking, corporate development / corporate strategy, or equivalent
- Knowledge of professional French
- Fluency in valuation and financial modeling
